PREFACE

THE season of 1930-1931, reported in this volume, presents many seeming contradictions. The uncertain conditions which characterized all trade were naturally reflected to some extent in literary property, but there were surprisingly high levels as well as low, and it is difficult to attribute to general business conditions the range of prices within the season or the variation between this year's prices and those of the past.

Inferior copies of rare editions seem to have come upon the market more frequently than heretofore, and at low prices, of course. This may indicate that there was a demand for the book, whatever its condition, as well as the fact that there are no available copies in better condition, or that better copies are being held back for times of freer expenditure. The fact which stands out is that desirable copies which were presented for sale held their own, and it would appear that even inferior copies of the same works are increasingly in demand. Inspection of the following pages will show that buyers were alert for good items, that rarities met with the response of other times, and that many of the offerings of the year were sold at prices which established new records.

Another feature of the season which might lead to mistaken conclusions is the fact that there were few auction sales which ran to large individual totals. Against this is the fact that the higher prices realized were by no means confined to items in the larger, best-known collections and that many items vainly sought in recent years were brought out in the smaller sales and in the composite sales of collections assembled from various sources.

The year shows an increase in the number of sales, with an aggregate of 77 as compared with the 65 of 1929-1930. Auctions of the Union Square Book Shop and the Chicago Book and Art Auctions, Inc., have been added to those of the houses formerly included, and five cities of the United States are now represented in the report made by American Book-Prices Current. This year's report covers 829 pages, forming the largest volume of the series since 1926.

The auctions included the library of the late John Nolty, comprising Americana, manuscripts, color plate books, and English and American first editions; the Samuel Kalisch library of first editions; the Tennyson collection formed by Thomas Ogden Amelia; the Merryweather-Minor-Randolph assemblage, including important documents in the hand of Thomas Jefferson; the library of Frederick W. Lehmann, containing his Dickens collection and first editions of American and English authors; the library of B. George Ulizio, Part I, First Editions of English Authors, including noted Dickens items; selections from the library of John P. Kane and that of a New Jersey collector, containing fine copies of American first editions and popular sporting items; and the Barrus-Underhill collection, including Hawthorne, Melville, Clemens, Burroughs, Whitman material, mainly autographic in its interest.

The highest price of the season, $23,000, was paid for an autograph letter of Thomas Jefferson, sold among the Minor-Randolph documents.

The Lehmann and Ulizio sales, the largest of the season, met with special interest through the rarity of their material, a number of the books being autographed. To mention only some of those without this unique quality, in a comparison covering the last five years, the following were distinguished as bringing new record prices. Among the Dickens items which were significant of both sales, the Lehmann collection included the broadside, The Great International Walking Match [Boston, 1868], understood to be one of five signed copies, which sold at $2000; Is She His Wife? [London, n.d.] at $850; The Strange Gentleman, containing the Phiz frontispiece, London, 1837, at $2100; and the Dickens-Collins synopsis of the play, A Message from the Sea, 1861, at $475.

In the Ulizio collection, David Copperfield, 1849-1850, first issue, in parts, brought $575; the Library of Fiction, London, 1836-37, in parts, $1600; the first octavo edition of Oliver Twist, London, 1846, in parts, $1400; the New York, 1836-38 issue of Pickwick Papers, in 26 parts, $2500; and the McCutcheon-Ulizio copy of Pickwick Papers, included among the eleven copies described in Eckel's Prime Pickwicks in Parts, brought $13,000, a sum exceeded only by that paid for the Hatton-Cole copy and by the sum paid for the Kern copy.

The Lehmann sale produced Vol. I of the Broadway Journal, 1845, at a price of $200; the 1744 second issue of Benjamin Franklin's imprint of Cicero's Cato Major in English, at $375; Samuel Clemens's The Prince and the Pauper, 1882, at $925; Dana's Two Years Before the Mast, N. Y., 1840, at $950; Bret Harte's Luck of Roaring Camp, first issue, Boston, 1870, at $510, his M'liss, N. Y. [1873], at $950; Hawthorne's Liberty Tree, 1841, at $300; Longfellow's Evangeline, Boston, 1847, at $750; Whittier's Justice and Expediency, Haverhill, 1833, at $675, his Moll Pitcher, Boston, 1832, at $650—the Chamberlain-Wakeman copy, a better copy, sold in 1924 for $250. Snow-Bound, Boston, 1866, sold at $275; the "Large Type" issue of Sumner [1873], at $55. The sum of $725 was paid for an eighteenth century horn-book, one of the 45 of the Tuer collection, which sold as a whole at Sotheby's in 1900 for £269 5s.

In the Kane sale, Alken's Sporting Discoveries [1816-16-17] brought $400; Clemens's Adventures of Tom Sawyer, Hartford, 1876, first issue, $1950; Cooper's Deerslayer, 1841, $260; The Last of the Mohicans, Philadelphia, 1826, $3200; Harte's Lost Galleon, San Francisco, 1867, $260; Hawthorne's Celestial Rail-Road, Boston, 1843, $400; and a complete set of the Sporting Magazine, 1792-1870, $2900—an advance of $1000 over the sum paid for the copy of this run of the magazine which was sold in 1929.

Continuing this comparison for recent years, record prices were paid for works mentioned below. Some of these appeared in the above collections, some in other sales at sums which, while lower than prices quoted above, were yet larger than those of past years. Dati's metrical version of the Columbus letter, Florence, 1495, making a first appearance on the market, sold for $5100. Louisa Alcott's Little Women, 1868-69, which brought $16 in 1928, sold this year at $330, $490, and $530; Aldrich's Bad Boy, 1870, sold at $325 against the preceding year's price of $120. The poems of Rupert Brooke, London, 1911, appeared at $105; Bryant's Poems, Cambridge, 1821, at $500, $550, and $800; The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, 1885, at $280. In addition to the above Kane copy of the 1876 Tom Sawyer, other copies sold at $1225, and $1900. Cooper's Lionel Lincoln, N. Y., 1824-25, sold at $45; The Pathfinder, at $150; Precaution, at $700; Egan's Boxiana, 1812-29, brought $320; Emerson's Essays, First Series, 1841, $600; both series, 1841-44, $575; Harte's Lost Galileo, San Francisco, 1867, $120 and $260. In addition to the above Lehmann copy, other copies of The Luck of Roaring Camp, Boston, 1870, sold at $225 and $425; Hawthorne's Celestial Rail-Road, Boston, 1843, at $350. Irving's History of New York, published in New York in 1809, brought $340, $385, $400, $575, and $850; Kipling's Soldiers Three, Allahabad, 1888, $725; and an incomplete run, 58 numbers, of the United Service College Chronicle, 1878-1902, $2600. Poe's Raven, N. Y., 1845, brought $510; Scott's Rob Roy, Edinburgh, 1818, $560; Stevenson's Pentland Rising, Edinburgh, 1866, $800 and $875. Whittier items in some cases realized three times the sums paid for corresponding copies in the Wakeman sale of 1924. Wordsworth's Two Addresses to the Freeholders of Westmorland, Kendal, 1818, brought $500.

Among earlier works, an Office printed by Jenson in 1475 sold for $1000; the [1492] Pynson imprint of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, $1500; the 1540 and the 1545 Cosmographia of Apianus, $102 each. A broadside proclamation of Charles II for apprehension of the regicides sold at $353; the New Travels of De-calves, Boston [1788], at $390; Mante's History of the Late War in North America, London, 1772, at $440.

Among works of reference, the American Bibliography of Charles Evans, 1903-29, made an initial appearance, selling at $330.

With the inclusion of autographic material at lower figures than heretofore, the manuscript section of American Book-Prices Current occupies increased space in this as in last year's volume. New names appear, of course, through the change; but many of the old ones will be found followed by matter sold at prices in advance of those upon the old basis of $50 as a minimum sum for entry. In the latter class are autographs of Alexander Brown, Joseph Brant, Thomas Carlyle, Samuel Carpenter, Stephen Crane, John Cotton, Arthur Dobbs, Joseph Dudley, Daniel Eames (appealing against an accusation of witchcraft), Mary Baker G. Eddy, Ninian Edwards, Ralph Waldo Emerson, the Comte d'Estaing, David G. Farragut, Major Daniel Gookin (in his Account of the Sufferings of Christian Indians in New England, 1675-77), James N. Granger, the composer, Handel, President Harrison, John Hay, W. H. Hudson, Robert R. Livington, Robert Southey, and Horace Walpole. The record includes Bryant's manuscript of his discourse on Washington Irving at $1050; autographs of Hawthorne at $300, $900, and $1175; autographs of Mrs. Hawthorne at $105, $310, $450, and $800; a letter of Oliver Wendell Holmes to Hawthorne upon The Scarlet Letter at $1450; Washington Irving's revision for a new edition of his Life of Columbus, at $2900 (an advance of $400 over the sum paid for this same item in 1928); autographs of Thomas Jefferson at $400, $610, $1000, $2100, and, as mentioned above, $23,000; also a letter of Herman Melville upon Moby Dick to Mrs. Hawthorne at $3100. Among prices paid for state papers will be found sums of $1250 and $1900.

As this volume may come into the hands of some persons not familiar with the publication, the following explanation of its scheme is reprinted from earlier issues.

The name of the author, or the main heading, is set in bold-face capitals. As a rule, Club and Press publications are listed under the name of the club or press in question; and a few other books, such as anonymous histories and biographies, are given subject entries.

The titles of various works under these main entries are printed in bold-face type, capitals and lower case. The subsequent matter, the description, printed in light-face type, is in two portions, the first, including the imprint—place, printer, date—and size of volume, is general and applies to all copies of the work listed.

The second portion of the description, applying specifically to the copy of the book sold (each lot beginning a new line), is made up as follows: (1) a description of the binding; (2) a statement as to the condition of this copy—if on large paper, with extra plates inserted, from a famous library, etc.; (3) capital (key) letter, referring to the Chronological List of Sales at the beginning of this volume and indicating the name and date of the sale; (4) the lot number of the sale catalogue; (5) the price realized, that is, the price per lot and not per volume.

can be without being down altogether. Still I hope to stay on to see the flame of war brighten in this peace-rotted land," etc. YY(287)$155.00.

- A. L. S., 4 pp., 12mo. 40, St. Luke's Road, Nov. 21 [1913]. To Edward Garnett. Thanks Garnett for several books and then writes of Thomas Hardy: "Hardy's book I haven't finished with yet: I read a tale when in the mood. That is the advantage I have over you," etc. YY(288)$80.00.

- A. L. S., 4 pp., 12mo. 40, St. Luke's Road, Dec. 12 [1913]. To Edward Garnett. Hudson writes of the difficulties experienced by him in writing "Birds and Men" and another of his books. He then writes of contemporary literary figures: "I read your review of Mrs. Wharton's book. . . . She appears to have followed her master & idol James in de-Americanizing herself," etc. YY(289)$45.00.

- A. L. S., 4 pp., 12mo. 40, St. Luke's Road, [Dec.] 23 [1913]. To Edward Garnett. Referring to Ernest Dimnet's "Remarkable article on Anatole France and what we appear to think of him" and an article in the Morning Post on Galsworthy's Dark Flower. YY(290)$35.00.

- A. L. S., 5 pp., 4to. 40, St. Luke's Road, Jan. 6, 1914. To Edward Garnett. On his early life and impressions. After a bitter attack upon Edith Wharton, he writes of Leigh Hunt's autobiography. "How many men—tens & hundreds of thousands of men—could say as much as you & I & Hunt of a mother whose memory they worship; but all this has no existence in the world of certain fictionists," etc. YY(291)$150.00.

- A. L. S., 2 pp., 4to. 40, St. Luke's Road, Aug. 6, 1916. To Edward Garnett. "George Moore as Christ! There's nothing funny in that. Fresh Christs spring up every day. . . . George Moore is a good writer—a literary man's writer, but I don't read him because he is insincere," etc. YY(292)$45.00.

- A. L. S., 4 pp., 12mo. 42, St. Luke's Road, Dec. 10, 1916. To Edward Garnett. On a new edition of Hudson's greatest book: ". . . As to Green Mansions. I have had cuttings sent me but must have thrown them on the fire. . . . Roosevelt's Preface is not worth a damn: he says nothing except that he likes my books, &c.," etc. YY(293)$220.00.

- A. L. S., 5 pp., 4to. 40, St. Luke's Road, June 10 [1917]. To Edward Garnett. On literature in general, and utopian literature in particular; commences by writing of Amy Lowell: ". . . She is purely derivative, especially where she brags loudest of her originality, & in her decorative attempts she resembles Keats (& all the other poets she can be traced to) much as the vulgar wooden drawings of a Caruthers Gould resemble . . . Sargent." Hudson turns to the Utopian Romance: "About a Crystal Age you haven't said more in depreciation of it than I have said myself in the preface to the 3rd edition. But the book, in spite of absurdities is not inferior to the others," etc. YY(294)$475.00.

- A. L. S., 2 pp., 4to. Penzance, Jan. 23 [1918]. To Edward Garnett. On "Far Away and Long Ago": "I didn't want you to write in praise of the book; I should have preferred dispraise or at all events criticism. As to its being a 'masterpiece' that is all your fun," etc. YY(295)$60.00.
 - A. L. S., 2 pp., 4to. Penzance, March 24, 1920. To Edward Garnett. Objects to the title "Songs of the Dead": "We can listen to the dead speaking to us or to others & even project ourselves into the ground & speak for ourselves, but the speaking isn't song," etc. YY(296)$50.00.
 - A. L. S., 2 pp., 4to. 40, St. Luke's Road [July 11, 1922] To Edward Garnett. Mentioning his last book, "A Hind in Richmond Park" "I was anxious to finish some writing which presents unusual difficulties. The book I have parted with . . . ends somewhat abruptly," etc. YY(297)$30.00.

Shelley (Percy Bysshe). A. L. S.(initials), 3 pp., 4to. [Postmarked: Pisa, May 16, 1820] To Thomas Love Peacock Congratulating Peacock on his marriage: ". . . I was very much amused by your laconic account of the affair. It is altogether extremely like the denouement of one of your own works and as such serves to [illustrate] a theory I once imagined—that in every thing every man of worth wrote, spoke, acted, or imagined is contained as it were an allegorical idea of his own future life, as the acorn contains the oak"; mentions Hogg and Hunt, with the wish that they "would come and spend some months with me in this wonderful land," etc. Small tear from seal, barely touching signature R(148)$800.00.

—A. L. S.(initials), 3 pp., 4to. Pisa, July 20, 1820. To Thomas Medwin. Long and detailed defense of "The Cenci" and "Prometheus Unbound"; at first, however, he envies Medwin his Alpine journeys: ". . . I have a passion for such expeditions, although partly the capriciousness of my health & partly the want of the incitement of a companion keep me at home. I see the mountains, the sky & the trees from my windows, & recollect as an old man does the mistress of his youth, the raptures of a more familiar intercourse. . . . I hope you will not pass Tuscany leaving your promised visit unpaid. I leave it to you to make the project of taking up your abode with such an animal of the other world as I am, agreeable to your friend. . . . I am delighted with
